President Roosevelt issued the following proclamation announcing the ratification of the reciprocity treaty between the United States and Cuba: "By the President of the United States of America:

"A Proclamation—

"Whereas, A convention between the United States of America and the republic of Cuba to facilitate their commercial intercourse by improving the conditions of trade between the two countries, was concluded and signed by their respective plenipotentiaries at the city of Havana on the 11th day of December, 1902, the original of which convention, being in the English and Spanish languages, was amended by the senate of the United States,

"And, Whereas, By its resolution of March 19, 1903, the senate of the United States, added to the end of article — the said convention of December 11, 1902, the following amendment: 'This convention shall not take effect until the same shall have been approved by the congress.'

"And, Whereas, Satisfactory evidence has been received by the president of the United States, that the republic of Cuba has made provision to give full effect to the articles of the said convention:

"Now, Therefore, Be it known that I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, in conformity with the said act of congress, do hereby declare and proclaim the said convention, as amended by the senate of the United States, to be in effect on the 10th day from the date of this, my proclamation.

"Wherefore, I have caused the said convention, as amended by the senate of the United States, to be made public to the end that the same and every clause thereof amended, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

EIGHTEEN OTHER INDICTMENTS.

Deitrich is Charged With Illegal Leasing of a Building to the Government For a Post Office.

Among the Others Indicted Are Ex-Adjt. Gen. Leonard W. Colby, Ex-State Senator Lowe and Postmaster J. S. Mitchell.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 18.—The United States grand jury Thursday made its report to the court, returning 19 true bills. These include indictments against United States Senator Charles H. Dietrich for alleged illegal leasing of a building to the government to be used as a post office; former Adjt. Gen. Leonard W. Colby, for the alleged embezzlement of government funds; Daniel Gaines, of Bassett, Neb., for alleged perjury in swearing falsely to homestead entries; former State Senator Elliott Lowe, for alleged conspiracy to bribe a United States senator; Postmaster John S. Mitchell, of Alma, Neb., charging him with illegal sale of postage stamps; William M. Irwin, on a charge of acting as agent for Mitchell, and against R. M. Allen, president of the Standard Cattle Co., for the alleged illegal fencing of government lands.

The other indictments were similar to that against Allen, but do not involve extensive tracts of land.

The jury reported it had further matters under consideration.

The indictments against Senator Dietrich and State Senator Lowe are in addition to those returned against them a week ago.

Senator Dietrich is charged with violation of section 3739 of the Revised Statutes, which provides that no member or delegate to congress shall "directly or indirectly, himself or by any other person in trust for him, or for his use or benefit, on his account, undertake, execute, hold or enjoy, in whole or in part, any contract or agreement made or entered into in behalf of the United States, by any officer or person authorized to make contracts on behalf of the United States."

The indictment charges that Senator Dietrich leased to the government on April 24, 1901, a building at Hastings, Neb., to be used for a post office, at an annual rental of $1,300. There is one count which covers the amount received for rental of the building from the date of its lease by the government up to the present time, equal to a sum slightly in excess of $2,000.

The indictment against former State Senator Lowe charges him with conspiracy to bribe a United States senator. Two counts each of $500 are named in the bill. It is charged that these amounts were paid to Lowe by Postmaster John C. Mitchell in consideration of Lowe's endorsement of Mitchell's candidacy to Senator Dietrich for the appointment as postmaster at Alma, Neb.

The Pension Appropriation Bill Passed in the House.

The discussion began with a speech by Mr. Hoar, on his resolution of inquiry, and lasted several hours. In addition to Mr. Hoar's address there were speeches by Mr. Gorman and Mr. Foraker. All three were notable utterances and of historical interest.

House—The house passed without division the pension appropriation bill carrying $138,150,100. While the bill was under consideration, there was a general discussion on Panama, rural free delivery, tariff and pensions, speeches being made by Messrs. Scott (rep., Kan.), Miers (dem., Ind.), Sims (dem., Tenn.) and Burgess (dem., Tex.).

The pen was a gold one with a highly ornamented holder. It was used by Speaker Cannon, President Pro. Tem. Frye and Alexander McDowell, clerk of the house. It accompanied the bill to the white house, where it was used by President Roosevelt. The pen will be sent to Havana, where it will be placed on exhibition in the Cuban palace.

The injured were frightfully mangled and were taken to Adrian hospital at Punxsutawney.

ORDERED TO LEAVE

Colombian General Told Cruiser Atlanta to Get Out of Colombian Waters.

AN ARMED FORCE AT TITUMATI.

Lieut. Perrill Ordered to Board a Schooner Whose Hold Was Packed With Colombian Soldiers.

They Declared They Have 2,000 Men Between the Mouth of the Atrato and Tiburon, With Several Pieces of Artillery.

Colon, Dec. 18.—The United States cruiser Atlanta, commander, William H. Turner, returned here Wednesday night from the Gulf of Darien. She discovered, December 15, a detachment of Colombian troops, numbering visually about 500 men, but according to their statements, totaling 1,500 or 2,000 men, at Titumati, on the western side of the gulf, just north of the mouth of the Atrato river. The commander of the Atlanta sent ashore an officer, who conversed with the Colombian commander. The latter protested energetically against the presence of American warships in Colombian waters, inasmuch as war between Colombia and the United States had not been declared, and politely requested the Atlanta to leave the gulf, because it belonged to Colombia. Commander Turner ignored the request, and the Atlanta returned to Colon to report to Rr. Adm. Coghlan.

Early in the morning of December 15 the Atlanta sighted a small schooner in the Gulf of Darien and followed her to the western shore, where the schooner attempted to hide behind an islet. Lieut. Harlan P. Perrill, of the Atlanta, was ordered to board her, and thereupon a whaleboat was lowered and pulled towards the schooner. Lieut. Perrill's boat's crew consisted of 12 men. On the first trip they were unarmed, excepting four revolvers. When the whaleboat approached the schooner 24 soldiers were seen seated on the side, nearest to the direction from which the Americans came, with rifles lying handily across their knees and pointing towards the whaleboat. Gen. Novo, who is a Venezuelan by birth, and second in command of the Colombian forces, stood on the deck of the schooner and insolently called out in broken English:

"What way is this to make war?"

Lieut. Perrill explained that it was not war, but a friendly visit. Gen. Novo, however, refused to furnish him with any information.

An interpreter who boarded the schooner discovered that she had 70 to 80 armed men, packed sardine-like in her hold. The Atlanta then signaled to Lieut. Perrill to return to his ship and later the lieutenant returned to the shore to visit Gen. Ortiz. This time he took with him a dozen rifles concealed in the bow of the whaleboat, in case of emergency. The whaleboat was rowed steadily towards the schooner, the excitement increasing as she approached; but, when Lieut. Perrill went on shore Gen. Ortiz appeared on the beach and the excitement subsided.

Gen. Ortiz made an eloquent verbal protest against the Americans' presence, the Colombian troops continually cheering his remarks. He subsequently committed his protest to writing. The general seemed uncertain at the beginning whether or not war had been declared. He left the port of Cartagena December 2 and some of the others declared they had been in the gulf for a month past conducting defensive and preparatory operations.

The Colombians carefully and systematically made efforts to avoid furnishing any information as to what purposes had brought them to the gulf, or whether they were building a road towards the republic of Panama. But, it can be said reliably, that they are awaiting superior orders. In the meantime there is strong probability that they are building a road towards Panama. The distance separating Titumati and Yaviza is 60 miles.

The Colombians declared they had 2,000 men between the mouth of the Atrato and Tiburon, well supplied with food, clothing and ammunition. They also have several pieces of artillery mounted advantageously at coastal points. Their demeanor, though polite, clearly showed hostility and deep chagrin at having been discovered. Many indications pointed to their intention of bringing further men and supplies to the gulf.

New York Paper Says He's Sure of the Nomination, But Thinks Democrats Can Easily Beat Him.

[New York News]

In his own State, where he is best known, Mr. Roosevelt to-day faces the prospect of certain defeat. He will have to work miracles within the next 11 months to carry New York. Unfortunately for him, when he plays hardest at pure politics he mars most his own chances of winning. The Odell-Platt muddle, in which he had the shaping hand, is worth tens of thousands of votes
to the Democrats.

As Representative John Sharp Wil-iams, the new Democratic leader of the House, said in a recent interview, "The chances of a Democratic victory are better with Roosevelt as the Republican candidate than with any other man, and yet I am sorry to see it, as, if he should be elected, it means a threat to the peace of nations. The country distrusts him,
the business interests have no confidence
in him, and his public acts are reacting against him now."

Wireless Trolley a Success.

[Atlantic City Telegram to the Chicago Record-
Herald.]

The "wireless" trolley system invented by Leon W. Pullen, of Philadelphia, was successfully tested over a mile of steam railroad track to-day. The invention does away with the third rail through the use of a magnet. The equipment, which is easily adjusted, consists mainly of a lightly magnetized bar running the entire length of the car. The feed wire is buried in the ground. At intervals of eighteen feet a metal cap four inches in diameter comes to the surface. This cap is harmless and has no connection with the feed wire. It only becomes charged when touched by the metal bar under the car.

At Covington, J. S. Stephens was held to the grand jury in sum of $500 to answer for disposing of arms and uniforms belonging to the State Guard. Stephens would probably have been elected Captain shortly had he behaved himself.

Those who saw "A Friend of the

have nothing to complain of—they got it all in large and liberal doses Thursday night.
The attendance was not big, but the bargain counter of high-class comedy was overflowing at all times. The company seems to be made up of top-notchers
in their special lines and the play written with the sole idea of affording patrons
a chance to laugh and grow corpulent.

TO OUR PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL:

The indications strongly point to the best holiday trade we have enjoyed for many years. The inducements we are holding out in prices, considering the class of goods we carry, must appeal to the intelligent people. Did they not, the public would not flock to our store as they do.

We need not again enumerate the elegant, sensible and useful lines of merchandise suitable for Christmas presents.

Our window displays tell that story better than we can tell it in the newspapers.

We ask our friends, and particularly those near home, not to defer their shopping in our line until the last day or two before the holidays. It is always best to avoid the rush incident to the last two or three days before Christmas.

In the last twenty-four hours we received a new supply of Choice Mufflers and Gloves. We call particular attention to them on account of their elegance.

We give Globe Trading Stamps.
